Firstly, I note that there is an intention to appoint authorised officers who, on my first skim of the 153 pages, have more power than a policeman to seize and/or search vehicles, people or property. This is wrong and I strongly object.

I note that there is no proposed legislated and explicitly stated responsibility of those officers to take reasonable care to not damage any property they seize.

This is wrong, this is the Government riding roughshod over people and should be addressed.

The act is discriminatory on the basis of race. Like other acts before it, it bestows hunting privileges on Indigenous people that are not available to the rest of us.

The act removes the right to silence. Section 104 (1) t

In fact refusing to answer questions is punishable by fines up to $15,000.

This is wrong. What happened to the right to refuse to incriminate oneself?

This act is designed to make sure people have even less rights than ever.

As usual, the general public will be locked out of even more land, with access granted to the privileged few.
