

Consultation Notice

under the Aboriginal Heritage Act 1988 (SA)

Noarlunga Downs Residential Development

Project information

Aboriginal Affairs and Reconciliation (AAR), on behalf of the Minister for Aboriginal Affairs (Minister), is currently consulting on an application for authorisations under sections 21, 23 and 29(1)(b) of the Aboriginal Heritage Act 1988 (SA) (Act) from Renewal SA (Applicant). The Applicant seeks the authorisations to enable a proposed residential development over two separate areas at Noarlunga Downs (Project).

Aboriginal heritage

The application areas are known to contain Aboriginal objects and a traditional burial site that is recorded on AAR's central archives. A small part of the historical floodplain of the Onkaparinga River (Ngangkparri), a reported Aboriginal site, also intersects one of the application areas – see map attached. If granted, the authorisations would allow the Applicant (subject to conditions) to damage, disturb and/or interfere with Aboriginal heritage and to excavate land for the purposes of uncovering Aboriginal heritage. It would also allow the Applicant to remove Aboriginal heritage samples from the state for radiocarbon dating, if requested by Traditional Owners.

Project works

The Project would involve ground disturbing works including stripping of vegetation and topsoil; earthworks to achieve required surface levels; excavation for the construction of stormwater management infrastructure, roads and kerbing; trenching for services; construction of residential housing, new roads, road connections, on-street parking, and shared use paths/footpaths; and other supporting infrastructure and services. Project works would also include landscaping, developing open spaces and establishing temporary compounds during construction.

Heritage management

The Applicant has developed a Cultural Heritage Management Plan with Kaurna representatives for managing known, as well as any discovered Aboriginal heritage, throughout the life of the Project.

The Applicant is currently undertaking a Ground Penetrating Radar assessment over most of the application areas to check for subsurface anomalies, which will subsequently involve archaeological test-pitting to confirm the presence or absence of heritage. No archaeological uncovering or excavation of any heritage detected during test-pitting would be undertaken unless and until the authorisations sought by the Applicant are granted. See AAR's website for further information.
